PLEA FOR REAL LOAN FINISH

Hallowell Asks New England to Cheer Boys in France by Size of Subscription

New England still has a chance to lead the country in the Liberty Loan drive.

This district cannot be first over the top, for that claim to distinction has long since been preempted by five competitors. But there is still a chance to go farthest over the top and that is what the New England Liberty Loan committee seeks to accomplish as a result of its work in this campaign.

New England is now in seventh place among the reserve bank districts, despite the fact that New England troops have suffered more heavily than those from other States in the fighting abroad.

"If you want those boys in France to throw up their hands and cheer, if you want New England to end in first instead of seventh place, seize this last chance to lend every cent you possibly can to the government," is the message of Chairman N. Penrose Hallowell of the loan committee to the citizens of this section.

HENRY CLAY PETERS ACQUITTED OF THEFT

Henry Clay Peters, at one time candidate for Congress on the Progressive ticket, was today acquitted on the charge of larceny by false pretences. The verdict was brought in by a Superior Court jury after nine hours' deliberation.

The defendant and his wife were moved to tears when the finding was announced, and Mrs. Peters threw her arms about her husband's neck and kissed him.

Peters was charged with having obtained $1,850 from Jeremiah Shea, his wife and daughter, of Cambridge. The Sheas claimed they gave him their money with the understanding he would purchase stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

VASSAR COLLEGE TEACHER FACES INTERNMENT

©UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N.Y.

The government's search for spreaders of propaganda led to the detention of Miss Agatha Wilhelmina Richrath, an instructor of German in the Vassar faculty. The specific charges against Miss Richrath are that she publicly justified the sinking of the Lusitania and the invasion of Belgium by the Germans.

New York, May 2.—Interment for the duration of the war will be recommended for Miss Agatha Wilhelmina Richrath, instructor in German at Vassar College for three years, who says that she hopes Germany will win the war.

The woman was questioned here by Superintendent De Woody of the Bureau of Investigation of Justice and then by William Wallace, Jr., head of the New York Port Bureau for Enemy Aliens.

"Whom do you hope will win the war?" she was asked.

She replied:

"I am as proud of being a citizen of Germany as you are of being a citizen of the United States and therefore hope Germany will win.

"Since I have been at Vassar not one person connected with the college, knowing I am German, has asked me a single question about the war.

"I did tell friends at a family dinner that if there were munitions on board the Lusitania the sinking might have been justified. I knew nothing about the rules of maritime warfare. I said that if there was a reason for the sinking it was better that hundreds should die by the sinking than that thousands should be killed by bullets."

TRANSPORT SHOTS HIT SEA DIVER

Two Torpedoes Miss British Steamship; Gunners Win With Fourteen Shells

By International News Service.

An Atlantic Port, May 2.—A big British liner which recently carried many American troops to France returned here today with the report of having sunk a U-boat on the trip west.

Twelve passengers and a number of Canadian and British soldiers who are to take part in the final hours of the Third Liberty Loan drive in New York city watched the encounter.

The German submarine appeared four hours after the convoying destroyers had departed. From a distance of a mile and a half the U-boat sent a torpedo which went wide of its mark. As she dashed after the zig-zagging liner, the submarine fired another torpedo that passed astern.

Meanwhile, the gun crew got into action and sent fourteen shots at the submarine. The gunners say their twelfth and fourteenth shots were effective, as the U-boat vanished and was not seen again.

FEDERAL SUPERVISOR OF ICEMEN'S PRICES

The manufacturers and distributors of ice will come under the food control act and any increase in prices over last season will be investigated by the government, it is announced in dispatches from Washington. To date only one Boston firm has increased the price of ice. Dealers in several Massachusetts cities have announced that they will make no deliveries of less than fifteen cents worth of ice and have increased the prices on small quantities up to fifty cents per hundred pounds. Federal food controllers in some States have notified ice dealers to give, before May 10, their schedules of prices for this season and last season.

STEEL INDUSTRIALS STRONG STOCK LEADERS

New York, May 2.—Nearly all the speculative interest on the stock exchange floor was concentrated in the steel industrials today because of the favorable reports of the situation published in the trade journals. Steel common held strong throughout the forenoon, ranging from 97 to 97⅝, and Republic Iron & Steel was in good demand, moving up over two points to 84¼. Good gains were also made in Baldwin Crucible, Midvale and Lackawanna Steel.

American Can was carried up one point to 44⅞. Mexican Petroleum was active and strong, moving up 1¼ to 75⅝. The railroad stocks were quiet.

Germans Direct New Drive at American Battle Front

A new drive on the American front before Amiens has been started by the Germans. The Paris War Office announced today that a Hun attack had been repulsed at Thennes. This is ten miles southeast of Amiens and only five miles south of Villers-Bretonneux, where the Americans repulsed the Huns yesterday.

Other German thrusts north of Chavignon and northwest of Rheims were unsuccessful.

London dispatches today announced that Hun artillery was shelling the allied lines on both the Flanders and Picardy fronts, and that the bombardments were especially severe in the sectors of Villers-Bretonneux and Merris.

The consensus of military opinion today, as revealed by London and Paris comment, was that the Germans would make another drive against Ypres as soon as their shattered divisions are re-formed and enough fresh troops are brought up to warrant another smash against the British and French lines which are defending the town. While the bombardment is being kept up by the German artillery the movement of fresh troops toward the front is in progress.

The Germans are being lashed to utmost effort by no less a personage than the Kaiser himself. Hun prisoners have told their allied captors that the Kaiser has been at the Flanders front making speeches, worded in his usual grandiose manner, to inspire his troops to even more desperate attacks.

WILL RUSH ALL MEN POSSIBLE

War Secretary Asks Congress for Authority to Raise Men as They Are Needed

By International News Service.

Washington, May 2.—Secretary of War Baker, appearing before the House Military Affairs Committee this afternoon, asked blanket authority to "raise any number of men that the facilities for training and transportation will permit."

The secretary appeared with Provost Marshal Crowder and Acting Chief of Staff March to present the army program and tomorrow the secretary will return to submit his estimate of the appropriations necessary to cover the cost of the increased army. He gave no figures as to the number of additional men he has in mind.

Secretary Baker also took a decided stand against the amendment to the draft act which would give communities credit for volunteers in appointing the draft quotas.

NO LIMIT ON NUMBERS.

Upon emerging from the committee room, Secretary Baker dictated the following:

"The War Department's program was presented to the committee this morning. It involves expediting the transportation of men and increasing the army as rapidly as our ability to equip and train and transport can be foreseen.

"The secretary of war declined to discuss numbers for the double reason

ADDRESSES RESTORED TO CASUALTY LISTS

Washington, May 2.—Upon orders from Secretary of War Baker, casualty lists issued from the War Department will, beginning tomorrow, contain the addresses of relatives, it was learned this afternoon.

NEW ENGLAND, DON'T LET THE GERMANS SHAME YOU!

GERMANY has just raised her EIGHTH war loan, amounting to $3,514,588,000. The United States is struggling to raise its THIRD war loan of $3,000,000,000. New England has not done her share. There are but three days left to show the Kaiser that we can raise as much for our boys on our THIRD loan as the Germans have for their soldiers on their EIGHTH loan. New England, hurry!

GERMANS RENEW BOMBARDMENT OF U. S. POSITIONS NEAR AMIENS

VILLERS-BRETONNEUX IS OBJECT OF ATTACK

By FLOYD McGRIFF,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, May 2.—German artillery activity increased on both the Flanders and Picardy battlefronts this morning.

The War Office announced strong bombardments, especially in the sectors of Villers Bretonneux and Merris.

Villers Bretonneux lies about nine miles east of Amiens. It is in this sector that the United States forces are engaged.

There were no infantry actions during the night, but the increasing activity of the artillery indicated that preparations were under way for fresh attacks.

Germans were active throughout the night shelling British positions around Arras, Lens and St. Venant.

The text of the official report follows:

"The enemy's artillery developed considerable activity early this morning in the Villers-Bretonneux sector and in the neighborhood of Merris. There was some activity also during the night around Arras, Lens and St. Venant.

"No infantry actions were reported."

The Germans broke the lull in the infantry fighting on the Picardy front last night by attacking at Thennes (ten miles southeast of Amiens).

The attack was repulsed, the French War Office announced today.

The Germans delivered other attacks north of Chavignon and northwest of Rheims, but all were unsuccessful.

(Thennes is five miles south of Villers-Bretonneux, and it is possible that Americans may be fighting with the French in that district.)

The text of the Paris communique follows:

"North of the Avre River the Germans attacked our positions in the region of Thennes, but the attack was broken up by our fire. Other enemy attempts north of Chavignon and northwest of Rheims were equally unsuccessful. On our side we raided the enemy's lines near Monchel and west of Coucy-le-Chatean, as well as north of Pont-a-Mousson (on the eastern edge of the Woevre district). We captured twenty prisoners.

"Elsewhere the night was calm."

Great Depression in Germany Over Big War Losses

By International News Service.

London, May 2.—There is great depression in Germany over the failure to achieve a success on the western front, the heavy losses and the scarcity of food, said a News Agency dispatch received here today.

The information was secured from twenty Serbian prisoners of war who escaped from Germany. They said that all available males under fifty, including the invalided, were being gathered up for the army. Soldiers were not permitted to communicate with their relatives.

Americans Hurl Back 3 German Battalions in Hand-to-Hand Battle

Paris, May 2.—American troops in the vicinity of Villers-Bretonneux in their first clash with the enemy in this sector repulsed a German attack in force.

Three picked German battalions charged the American trenches following a heavy barrage of two hours' duration, but were driven back with heavy losses after a furious hand-to-hand encounter.

The casualties on the American side were reported to have been severe, but far below those of the Germans.

Germans Outmanoeuvred, but Struggle Is Only Begun, Say French Military Critics

By International News Service.

Paris, May 2.—"We are only at the beginning of the struggle," said the Petit Parisien today in commenting upon the course of the great double battle on the Picardy and Flanders fronts.

"The fight is not finished," the paper went on. "The enemy has not relaxed his unceasing bombardments and is bringing up reinforcements."

Other military critics take the view that Hindenburg has been outmanoeuvred. It is no longer a matter of following the variation of the battle lines, but solely calculating the price it costs the enemy to gain yard by yard. Thus Hindenburg, who condemned the folly at Verdun, finds himself similarly involved.

that any number implies a limit and the only possible limit is our ability to equip and train and transport, which is constantly on the increase.

"The details of estimates for the regular appropriations of 1918-1919 will be gone over with the committee tomorrow morning at 10.30 o'clock.

WANT FULL AUTHORITY.

"These estimates when approved by the committee and enacted by Congress will be, of course, supplemented as facilities for shipping and training become apparent."

Mr. Baker stated that he took this position that the War Department should have authority to call men from Class One in the draft "without reference to credits."

NAVY LEAGUE AGAINST HOME RULE FEATURES

London, May 2.—The influential Navy League has decided to oppose any form of home rule that would give an Irish parliament control of the ports and harbors, the postoffice and the railways, the Daily News stated today. As yet no lord lieutenant has been appointed. The post was offered to several peers, but all refused it.

Both conscription and home rule will be held in abeyance by the government for a while.

Funeral of Corporal Gately

Funeral services for Corporal John E. Gately, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gately of No. 16 Allston street, Cambridgeport, who died in Panama, were held today at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Delegations were present from the State Guard, Fort Strong and the navy yard.

Back This Yankee Bomber With Your Liberty Bonds

Typical of the bold spirit of the American soldier in France is the tale of one Yankee starting out on a private bombing party of his own. It is told in a letter just received from Dr. Morton Prince, who is in charge of the Paris Bureau of Information and Welfare for Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors. The letter says:

"The morale of our soldiers, as I saw it myself, is wonderful. Not only are they full of courage and ready to fight, but those only two days out of the trenches are anxious to go back. A lieutenant told me the following:

"He had just come back from the trenches. He and his colonel were walking up a communicating trench to the first-line trench when he saw ahead of him what he took to be a queer animal. His colonel, taking out his pistol, tiptoed to the animal, seized it by the back of the neck and found it to be an American soldier crawling on all fours. He had a potato bag on his back filled with bombs which he had stolen, and, leaving his command without orders, he was going over No Man's Land to make a raid all by himself. That story combines about as many American traits as are capable of being combined."

Boston Sidelights on the Liberty Loan Drive

Arthur Ashley, leading man in "The Man Who Came Back," will speak in Houghton & Dutton's tomorrow. He will be at the store from 1.30 till 2.30 p. m., and will aid in the sale of Liberty Bonds, which have been having a splendid sale at the store this week. To date $50,000 worth of bonds have been subscribed for, and Houghton & Dutton officials expect to raise this amount to $100,000 by the end of the week.

Former Mayor Fitzgerald and Lieutenant O. R. Jones were among the speakers scheduled for Filene's today, where a remarkable speaking program has been arranged for the final week of the loan drive. Tomorrow Charles S. Baxter of the Massachusetts mission to France will speak at 1 p. m., and at 2.30 Kenneth D. Jopp of the 101st Field Artillery, who was gassed and wounded in France, and sent home by General Pershing to aid in the loan drive, will appear. Saturday's program includes a talk at 11 a. m. by Captain McMahon of the Irish Guards, another at 1 p. m. by Fred H. Walker, an American ambulance driver just back from the front, and addresses later in the day by Herbert M. Nichols, one of Pershing's men (at 3 o'clock), and by Mayor Quinn of Cambridge (at 4 o'clock). All the speakers will be on the street floor.

Kidder, Peabody & Co. have filed subscriptions for $7,000,000 in Liberty Bonds for the firm and some of its clients. The firm itself takes $2,000,000, the New England Cotton Yarn Co. $1,000,000, and other organizations amounts well in the hundred thousands.

Bond salesmen at the Liberty Theatre and Barracks have had 4,168 subscribers for a total of $280,000. An effective plan of raising money was introduced today when a soldier's head was shown on the theatre stage, above a screen, and a $50 subscription was called for to dress him above the waist. This was usually quickly forthcoming, and then came a call for $50 more for trousers, shoes, leggings and the like. When this is subscribed the screen comes down. A third bond buys a rifle, bayonet, canteen and other equipment, which are handed to the soldier. Next come three more $50 bonds to feed him for a year. The quickest time for dressing and providing the food was four minutes and twenty-five seconds.

Worcester women expect to raise $1,000,000 for the loan by their own efforts. They have already made a remarkable record, and added $30,700 to the total today.

17 BOYS IN COURT ON TRESPASSING CHARGE

Seventeen boys, whose ages ranged from twelve to sixteen, were in Dorchester Court on various charges today. Their cases were continued until the juvenile session on Tuesday. Eight were accused of trespassing on the property of St. Cuthbert's Chapel, Neponset, and one of them was also charged with stoning the rector. Four more were charged with throwing stones at trains, four with breaking train windows with stones, and one with tampering with a railroad switch near the Harvard street station.

WOMAN IN COURT ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

Jennie Goldberg, alias Jennie Litman, of Cumberland street, Mattapan, was in Dorchester Court today on the charge of bigamy. The woman, who appeared on complaint of Joseph Cohan of the City Registrar's office, was said to have married William Goldberg of Malden on December 29, 1915, and, on May 20, 1918, she again contracted a marriage, according to the authorities, this time with Louis Learner of Dorchester. Attorney Leon Eyges said the woman believed herself divorced from her first husband under Jewish rites.

Long Range Cannon's Concussion Like an Earthquake

London, May 2.—What may be considered as an authoritative description of the German long range cannon bombarding Paris is printed in the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin in a dispatch from its correspondent at the front, Karl Rosner, known as the special press representative of the Kaiser. The account has been transmitted to Amsterdam and was received here today.

According to Rosner, the big gun is of a peculiar appearance, "looking more like a giant gray crane than a cannon." Its discharge is accompanied by a concussion like an earthquake. The projectile is visible as it leaves the gun muzzle, and has a velocity that takes it to Paris, a distance of seventy-eight miles, in three minutes.

VON RODIGER, KAISER'S CHIEF AGENT IN AMERICA, BEHIND BARS

WOMAN OF FACULTY AT YALE HELD

By International News Service.

New York, May 2.—Two German scientists, one a woman, have been gathered in by the federal government as dangerous alien enemies. They are Dr. Rhoda Erdmann, a distinguished biologist, and Dr. Richard Goldschmidt, both of whom had been lecturing at Yale. Both are Germans.

Germany's chief agent left in this country by the former Ambassador, Count Von Bernstorff, also is now in prison. Lieutenant-Commander Carl Von Rodiger is his name. He is held in $15,000 bail for hearing, May 8.

Miss Erdmann holds the distinction of being the first woman admitted to the faculty of Yale University. She was arrested in New Haven and brought to this city. Dr. Goldschmidt simultaneously was arrested in Connecticut and committed to the Hartford County Jail.

It was explained that both had been arrested under regulation Number 12 of President Wilson's proclamation of April 6 of last year. Both had been under surveillance for several months and are charged with having been active in circulating propaganda.

Miss Erdmann, a graduate of the University of Munich, came to the United States in 1916 as a Soesel research fellow to carry on investigations. She was described as being perhaps the world's leading authority in her particular branch of biology.

She lectured at Yale until March of this year when she resigned at the request of the university authorities.

Dr. Goldschmidt formerly was president of and professor extraordinary in the Munich University and now is connected with the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Berlin. He came to the United States from Japan in 1914.

If any attempt is made to secure Von Rodiger's release, the federal authorities say he will be rearrested on other charges. Therefore, the agent of Berlin, who is definitely accused of having "started in this country a military expedition against the kingdom of Great Britain," will remain the rest of his sojourn in America behind prison bars.

The prisoner is also accused of being the "paymaster" of the Kaiser in this country, and of "making things up" in connection with many plots. He is an officer in the German imperial navy.

A. L. WINSHIP WILL GO TO THE SHAWMUT BANK

Addison L. Winship, for a number of years civic secretary of the Boston City Club, has resigned to become a vice-president of the National Shawmut Bank, it was announced today. Mr. Winship, who takes up his new duties June 15, is said to have a large acquaintance as any man in Boston. For five years he has been president of the National Association of Civic Secretaries, he is State director of the Stetson campaign, president of the Citizens' Public Celebrations Committee of Boston, a member of the executive committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, and a member of the Boston City Club, Paddingstone Club, Cosmos Club, Washington; National Press Club, Washington, and City Club of Philadelphia.

Copenhagen, May 2.—The Germans have captured 16,000 prisoners at Helsingfors and Viborg in Finland, including the Red Guard premier, according to information received in the Finnish capital today. London, May 2.—The inter-allied commission on maritime transport has concluded its sessions after considering the question of re-victualling the invaded areas and the result may have an important bearing on the Japanese foreign policy, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Pekin today.

BOSTON'S "BLUE GODDESS" MAY DAY WAR BRIDE

Miss Regina Jones, now the wife of Lieutenant McIver Woody, M. R. C., a Kentuckian. The bride is a daughter of Lewis L. Jones, Lagrange street undertaker. As a stage dancer she was known as Nita Devi.

Miss Regina Jones, internationally famous as Nita Devi, or Boston's "Blue Goddess," was a May Day war bride, it was learned today.

Gowned in French horizon blue, the former dancing idol of Paris was married to Lieutenant McIver Woody, M. R. C., a Kentuckian.

The wedding was the culmination of a romance that began when the war activities of the famous dancer led her across the path of Dr. Woody, a member of the Boston City Hospital staff and a lecturer at Harvard Medical School.

The young Southerner was fascinated with the Boston girl who was humbly serving the Red Cross, forgetful of the many honors which had been conferred on her.

The marriage took place at the Commonwealth Avenue Baptist Church at noon yesterday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Austen K. de Blois. Captain Andrew Watson Seiard, M. R. C., was best man. Only members of the families were present. The bride's father is Lewis L. Jones, Lagrange street undertaker. The couple left for Washington immediately after the ceremony.

Among the wedding gifts was a diamond necklace, a family heirloom, a chest of silver and one of linens, as well as Liberty Bonds. The bride carried an heirloom in the form of a lace handkerchief and a bouquet of trailing arbutus and forgetmenots.

BRITAIN PLANS POST-BELLUM TRADE WAR

By International News Service.

London, May 2.—The Post-war Trade Committee, headed by Lord Balfour, reports that a general prohibition of exports to present enemy countries after the war is impracticable and unexpedient, although the Paris resolution can be carried out if a policy of joint control over certain import commodities can be agreed upon by the allies.

It adds that the government should consider the expediency of establishing a joint organization after the war dealing with reconstruction and such private orders as it is expedient to centralize.

It may be necessary, it was stated, in exceptional cases for the government to purchase certain raw materials when the supply needs safeguarding.

The committee recommends that certain exports from this country should be prohibited only a year, under a system of licensing.

During the reconstruction period every measure ought to aim at securing priority for the allies' inquirements and be applied to the materials they produce and require, it was stated.

Regarding British licensing, the committee said this would prevent certain exports. It was suggested that the government negotiate immediately with the allies for the adoption of joint measures regarding the prohibited select commodities.

CARDINAL BUYS LIBERTY BOND ON COMMON

Cardinal O'Connell, who has already subscribed to the Liberty Loans in private, went to the Liberty Barracks on Boston Common today and bought a Liberty Bond in public as an example to others.

He received a tremendous reception from the band rally gathering which crowded about Liberty Barracks and Liberty Theatre and extended over to Tremont street.

On the stage of Liberty Theatre the Cardinal said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—I did not come here today to make any extended address, but to offer my services to the country. I have bought in private all the Liberty Bonds that I can afford. I came here today to buy a bond publicly in the hope that the public will become enthusiastic over the necessity of buying Liberty Bonds. We will win the war with God's blessing and the people's help."

The Cardinal was then escorted to Liberty Barracks, where he made a bond purchase. He also made the following statement:

"I know that President Wilson has accomplished work during the past year that was beyond our greatest expectations. All the great things he has done have been, as the President himself says, with the aid of the people. I know that everyone will co-operate with the government. By so doing the termination of this terrible conflict will soon be in sight."

ESCORTS DIXIE BELLE; SLASHED BY HUSBAND

New York, May 2.—Harry C. Cotter, millionaire copper man, was seriously slashed about the face by Walter Hawthorne, a Knoxville mills salesman, when he escorted Mrs. Hawthorne to her home. Hawthorne, who had spent most of the night searching for his wife, was held today for felonious assault. Mrs. Hawthorne, whom Cotter had known as the "Belle of the Blue Grass Region" in Nashville years ago, expressed pleasure over the announcement of the police that her husband was being taken to a cell.

CLAIM ALLEGED SPY KILLED MRS. KING

By International News Service.

Concord, N. C., May 2.—Interest in the mysterious killing of Mrs. Maud A. King, wealthy widow of Chicago and New York, on the night of August 29 last at a lonely North Carolina spring, was renewed when a warrant was issued for Otto Schumann, a German alien enemy and alleged spy of the German government.

Schumann, who has several aliases, is alleged by authorities to have fired the shot which killed Mrs. King. His intention, it is added, was to kill Gaston B. Means, Mrs. King's business manager and confidant, who was tried and acquitted on a charge of murder in connection with the wealthy widow's death. Means, it is declared, had undertaken newspaper work with the purpose of exposing some of Germany's work in this country.

The warrant for the arrest of Schumann was sworn out by Morrison H. Caldwell, attorney for the city of Concord.

Schumann is said to be interned at present. The charge against him is murder.

In a statement made at the time of the issuance of the warrant, Caldwell said:

"Otto Schumann is a German spy, and is now in the custody of the United States government. We expect to prove:

"First—That Gaston B. Means severed his connection with the German government in 1916 because of its attitudes towards the United States government, and the then strained relations between the two governments.

"In this interview, he stated to them that he had just completed an investigation that he had been working on for five or six months and that he was going to volunteer his services to the United States government, or accept a permanent position offered him by a leading concern which would enable him to be of service to the United States government.

"Immediately after this interview he did, in connection with the editor and manager of one of the leading American newspapers, announces their plans for an investigation to ascertain positively where a German submarine base on this side of the Atlantic was located."

Caldwell added the Means plans caused German agents in this country to have Mrs. King and Schumann undertook the task on a motorcycle. It is asserted that he followed Mrs. King and Means to the lonely spring and fired the shot which killed Mrs. King.

REMOVE BERNSTORFF'S NAME FROM WALL

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—The name of Count Johann Von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, cannot hang upon the same wall with those of President Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt and other noted celebrities, who have been entertained by the Milwaukee Press Club. The club at its monthly meeting ordered the name of Von Bernstorff, which was written on a panel, to be taken down.

GERMANY TRYING TO STAMP OUT SOCIALISM

London, May 2.—Germany is trying to stamp out socialism, it was asserted by the German delegate to the Young Socialists' congress at Olten, Switzerland, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail today. Private meetings are suppressed and typewritten propaganda has to be distributed at danger to life and liberty. Youths caught distributing pamphlets are sent to the front, and imprisonment, servitude or shot. Thousands are languishing in German jails on mere suspicion.

Washington, May 2.—One hundred and sixty-seven men among the troops training in the United States died from pneumonia during the week ending April 26, the surgeon-general's report on the health of the cantonments today disclosed. The total deaths from all causes for the current week show a decline, the report says. Deaths reported, as against 278 for the preceding period. Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., had the high total of 12 fatalities.

NO PROFITS FOR WOOL DEALER DURING WAR

"The taking over of the wool supply of the country by the government means that the grower will receive full value for his crop, that the dealer will no longer receive any profit, but merely a commission sufficient to maintain his organization, and that the interests of the army and the civilian population of the country will be safeguarded."

So declares Charles J. Nichols, United States wool administrator, in explanation of what the act of the government means in seizing the wool supply of the country.

"It means that there will no longer be a 'free market,'" Mr. Nichols continued, "no wool can pass out of government control, no wool can be released, save through government orders.

TO TAKE ALL WOOL.

"The government will take all the wool in the hands of Eastern dealers, amounting to from seventy-five to one hundred million pounds, and the wool that is coming here from South America, amounting to from forty to sixty million pounds.

"The government will also take the coming new clip, which will amount to three hundred million pounds. All the process of handling the new clip from the grower to the mills will be under the supervision of the government.

"In this way not only will the needs of the Army be safeguarded, but the civilian requirements as well.

"The purchase of the new clip from the grower will be made through the big wool houses having their agents in the West. These houses will advance the money as usual, doing it on consignment, but they must not exceed the price fixed by the government. Upon the arrival of the wool the government will put a valuation upon it and direct its distribution.

NO DEALERS' PROFITS.

"For this service these wool houses will be allowed expenses and a small commission to pay their overhead charges and maintain their organization. There will be no such thing as profit for the wool dealer.

"All legitimate holders of wool have been notified that the government will take over their holdings and pay the mills upon the basis of the values of July 30 last. This wool will be distributed to the various mills.

"As with wheat and other war supplies, there is wool enough. But as all else, the cost of ships. And the seizing of the wool supply is a precautionary measure against serious results as the war goes on and the demands of the government for wool supplies increases.

"Most of the mills of the country are now manufacturing goods for the United States army and our new army will have supplies of wool goods is advance of its needs."

FATHER, 83, ACCUSES DAUGHTER OF NEGLECT

David Gallant, eighty-three, had his daughter, Mrs. Ida Candow, arraigned today for failing to contribute to his support. In court he declared that he had been living in a hen house on Palmer street, Hough's Neck, all winter. He only heat an oil stove, and that he had begged his food from his neighbors. Mrs. Candow declared her father had refused to come to live with her and that he said he would "want to die a natural death." She said he had left home about six or seven years old, and that he had not seen him for twenty-eight years. A continuance until May 23 was ordered.

NEW ENGLAND SETS NEW PACE ON LOAN

In his appeal for generous support of the government and the war, now that the campaign is on the last lap, he says:

"New England has now rounded the last turn and is squared away on the straight line to the finish. She is in seventh place out of twelve, but is showing speed each day and can finish first if her citizens so will it.

"If you only wish to see her reach her minimum quota, do not buy any more bonds.

"If you wish her to end in seventh place, do not subscribe another cent.

"If you wish her sons fighting in the trenches, to scoff at you who stay at home, turn a deaf ear to the appeals to buy Liberty bonds.

B U Y

"If you want those boys 'n France to throw up their hats and cheer for the magnificent support they get at home.

"If you want the country to realize once more that New England does her full share in every national crisis.

"If you want New England to end in first instead of seventh place, and we know you want all these things from the bottom of your hearts, seize this last chance to take one last, generous look at your bank account, at the money in your pocket book or in your bureau drawer and lend every last cent you possibly can to your government.

"Subscriptions entered in any bank by Saturday night will help in this splendid finish."

BETTER RESPONSE.

The closing the campaign is finding a better response to the government's need than has appeared thus far. New England's total of subscriptions for the day, $22,005,000, was the largest yet, and the total subscription is now $244,052,000 The quota is $250,000,000, and will probably be reached within a few hours. However, the $250,000,000 is the minimum. What the local committee wants is a maximum. It has set $350,000,000 as its mark for the campaign and fully expects to reach it.

Connecticut is now over the top by a big margin and has the highest percentage of any New England State. It has gone 18 per cent. above its minimum allotment and is still going strong.

Only Rhode Island and Massachusetts have yet to reach their minimum allotments, and both are approaching them. Of the 1,486 communities in New England, 1,038 have oversubscribed, and have therefore won the right to fly the honor flags.

NOW SETTING PACE.

New England, by its spirit in the last twenty-four hours, set the pace for the nation, for the total of $62,000,000 subscribed in the United States since the last accounting.

New England has given a share far beyond its normal quota.

The total of subscriptions reported in Washington is $2,641,631,850, but there is still $360,000,000 to be made up by the end of the week. New York district subscriptions, at the beginning of business today, were 1682,100,000.

Massachusetts contributed $15,194,000 for the day—more than the usual total for all New England. The State has now reached 89 per cent. of its minimum quota, and Rhode Island has 87.5 per cent. subscribed. Connecticut's contribution for the day was $6,051,000. The complete record of the States today follows:

State.	Total Subscription.	Quota Percentage.
Connecticut	$39,011,000	118 %
New Hampshire	11,742,000	117 %
Maine	14,307,000	112 %
Vermont	6,873,000	100.2%
Massachusetts	150,340,000	89 %
Rhode Island	21,882,000	87.5%
Totals	$244,023,000	97.5%

Boston had a good day, the addition, gross, for the 24 hours being $9,092,000, or 50 per cent. more than Vermonts entire quota for the campaign. The city's gross subscription is now $78,526,000, and its net is $49,-963,900, a figure which is working up into measurable distance of the quota, $64,046,900.

Dorcest, Vt., North Anson, Me., and Wheelwright, Mass., have been awarded two stars for their honor flags, for 200 per cent. oversubscriptions. Towns to win one star are Worthington, Enfield, Monterey, Prescott and Mattapoisett in this State; St. Albans, Vt., and Portland, Ct.

New places on the honor flag list include the following:

In New Hampshire, Dunbarton, Epsom, New Hampton, Barnstead; in Maine, Thomas, Fivmouth, island Falls, Michiasport, Parten, Buckfield, Buxton, Greenfield, Levant, Benedicta, Newburg, Hampden, Brooksville, Woolwics, Skowhegan, Brunswick, Pejepscot, Gosnburn, Williamsburg, Scarboro, Tremont; in Vermont, Irasburg, Plainfield, Sheffield, Bristol, Sharon, Pittsford, Plncroft; in Massachusetts, Wakefield, Hyannis, Plymouth, Rockland; and in Connecticut, K-nt, Falls Village, Hebron Bolton, Seekonk.

FULLOW WILSON'S LEAD.

President Wilson's appeal to buy another bond has had a magical effect upon the campaign. The proposition was presented to thousands of theatre audiences throughout the country, and immediately after the President bought his $50 bond on the installment plan, thousands of americans responded all over the country, and the Liberty Loan headquarters at Washington is receiving telegrams from all Federal reserve districts saying that the "buy another bond" idea has stimulated sales marvelously.

The little town of Bush, Colo., wired that the President's offer brought subscriptions of $5,500 to one moving picture theatre.

The Chicago committee wired that thousands had joined the President's extra bond campaign, and in all the large cities the President's appeal is being presented at clubs, stock exchanges, theatres and hotels and meeting with great success.

MEANS MANY MILLIONS.

Philadelphia reported that 90 per cent. of the guests of the hotel dining rooms met the President with subscriptions and pledges when the news was announced.

It is estimated by the Treasury Department that more than one million Americans will match the President, and that the "buy a bond" campaign will result in from $50,000,000 to $100,-000,000 additional subscriptions.

Dorchester Plans Big Liberty Loan Meeting Tonight

The Liberty Loan Committee of District 11, Dorchester, is still on the job and encouraged by the wonderful success of the parade and meeting of last week at Edward Everett square, at which $4,000 was collected from the stand in thirty minutes, has arranged for another meeting at the same place this evening.

Charles D. M. Bishop, chairman of the district committee, has arranged with the Central Liberty Loan Committee to provide a string of war pictures which will be presented upon a large screen erected near the old Blake house.

Arrangements were also completed to have two of the men of the 101st regiment now in Boston, present and speak.

Music will be furnished by a band from Commonwealth Pier and several singers have volunteered their services.

MEANS HIGHER FARES ON N. H. LINES BY BOAT

Washington, May 2. — The Interstate Commerce Commission tentatively approved today the application of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for increased passenger fares from points on its lines to interstate destinations, via lines of the New England Steamship Company.

MOTHER WITH BABE IN ARMS GOES TO JAIL

Mrs. Ida Stern, thirty-five, of Elmo street, Dorchester, the mother of two children, one a babe in arms, was today in the Dorchester court convicted of the larceny of a $5 hat and sentenced to the Sherborn Reformatory. The woman appealed, and failing to secure $1,500 bail was taken to the Charles street jail together with her baby. The hat was said to have been stolen from Helen Kravitz on April 15. According to the police it was not the first offence of Mrs. Stern.

Providence Mother Asks American to Find Boys

Providence, May 2.—Mrs. Isabelle Norman of No. 301 Ohio avenue has asked the Boston AMERICAN to find her two sons, Leslie, fourteen, and Sydney, twelve, who left home April 9, and have not been heard from since. Both boys are real Americans and continually importuned their mother to allow them to "go to work" to help her.

At the outset Mrs. Norman believed her sons had gone to New York to visit relatives and asked the police to keep the matter from the newspapers. Day after day with no word from the boys, and as New York relatives had not seen them, Mrs. Norman has asked the Boston AMERICAN to assist her.

"I know you can do so much good if you will try and find my boys," said the broken-hearted mother, who has two other children.

ASK RICH FOR GARDENERS FOR FARMS

Would Sacrifice Lawns in Order to Get Help to Double Crops of the State

By ELIZABETH ELLAM.

Men of wealth, whose beautiful lawns, flower beds and variegated border plants have been their pride and delight during the Summer months, are being asked today to give these up as a patriotic measure. Letters to this effect went out today from the office of the Department of Labor, which is co-operating with the Department of Agriculture in a determined drive which has just started in the interests of farm labor.

The men thus released from the duties of manicuring the lawn or trimming the hedges and the borders and coaxing the flowering plants into luxurious bloom are to be released for agriculture. It is one of the methods of the department to divert labor from a non-essential to a most essential industry.

MUST DOUBLE CROPS

Massachusetts must double her farm produce this year, is the slogan of the movement. She must grow at least twice the amount of food, of corn, of cereal, and of garden truck that she has formerly. She must plant her fence corners and her waste land, she must make her barren hillsides to bloom like the rose, if she would fulfill the demands of the government at Washington and carry on her share of the work that is necessary to win the war.

To do this she must have labor, and it is to secure this labor that the drive for farm labor has been started.

Letters to college presidents have been sent out, in which every president is asked to appoint a member of the faculty—an enrolling secretary, to enroll students for farm work. Letters and appeals to freshman classes of all colleges in Massachusetts have followed, asking that these young men go onto the Massachusetts farms during the Summer vacation, to aid the farmer in growing his crops.

These young men, while below the draft age and too young to enlist in any branch of the service, will still be doing patriotic work by going on the farms.

TO AROUSE PUBLIC INTEREST.

Arrangements were completed today for the establishment of two booths for farm product demonstration, on the Common and on Federal street. These booths are used to stimulate interest in the drive.

Another method that bids fair to increase the number of men who will enroll for farm service, is through the manufacturers throughout Massachusetts. Each manufacturer has been asked to conscript 2 per cent. of the men in his employ, for the use of the men on the farm.

The appeal to the man of wealth to forego his beautiful lawns and flower beds for the Summer, was sent out by Colonel William A. Gaston, who, as Massachusetts representative of the Public Service Reserve, is directing the farm labor drive.

Fatally Hurt Saving Boy From Death Under Train

Lawrence, May 2.—David Clarkson, drug clerk, was fatally hurt today saving the life of a neighbor's boy whom he was taking to Nantasket Beach for a day's outing. They boarded the 8:13 train, the boy first. On the platform the boy stumbled and fell back. Clarkson, just mounting the steps as the train started, clutched at the boy but missed him. The two fell off the steps. With a final effort Clarkson managed to thrust the lad away from the wheels, but fell under the wheels himself. His right leg was cut off at the hip. He was removed to the General Hospital dying. The boy was unhurt.

43 RECRUITS FOR MARINE CORPS SERVICE

Marine Corps recruiting went "over the top" today, forty-three leaving to take up training. Forty-two were sent to Port Royal and one to Philadelphia, Captain H. C. Daniels, with his sergeants, was kept busy.

"We're getting recruits, but we cannot lower our standard to take them all. Many of them are physically unfit. We'd have less work if most of our applicants had better hearts and better teeth," remarked the captain.

Sergeant Stephen H. Jason reported to the recruiting station of his work in Brockton, where many recruits will be listed for this service.

STRONG MAN OF HARVARD WINS HEIRESS

Lieut. Percy of Arlington to Marry Cousin of Katherine Elkins Hitt

Lieutenant George Almy Percy of the United States Marine Corps, the Harvard College Hercules and son of Dr. and Mrs. D. T. Percy of Arlington, has fallen victim to Dan Cupid, before whom the most powerful are but as little children.

The engagement has just been announced at Washington of Lieutenant Percy and Miss Hallie Elkins Davis, a Southern heiress.

Miss Davis is the daughter of John T. Davis of West Virginia and granddaughter of the late United States Senator Henry Gassaway Davis, who was one of the wealthiest men in the country.

Miss Davis is also a cousin of the former Miss Katherine Elkins whose romance with the Duke of the Abruzzi was of international interest, but who subsequently wed "Billy" Hitt of Washington.

Lieutenant Percy is now in camp at Quantico, Va. Miss Davis, who made her debut into society last December, has been spending the past season in Washington with her mother.

The engagement is a war-time romance. Lieutenant Percy has been able to go to Washington frequently from his Southern station. On one of his visits there he attended a Chevy Chase function. There he met Miss Davis, who is a Chevy Chase girl.

The wedding, it is expected, will take place in Washington. The date will depend upon military orders of Lieutenant Percy.

Lieutenant Percy entered Harvard with the class of 1915. He gained the title of Harvard's strongest man in December, 1914, when he scored a total of 1442.6 points in the strength tests prescribed by Dr. Sargent.

Men who need clothes can accomplish the double purpose of getting the clothes and seeing that their money goes into the loan. It is part of our plan that other business establishments will follow suit and thus give the loan a great impetus for the last few days.

Hi, there!

What's that? Saw a suit in a competitor's window that looked like one of ours priced lower? What of it?

Of course, it looked like it; but did you have an X-ray in your pocket? Did you have anybody handy to tell you its family history? Do you know that the cloth in a suit represents less than half the total cost? How do you know that the other half wasn't entirely missing?

Of course you don't, and you wouldn't have until you bought that suit and wore it several months and finally woke up!

Clothes are like men; their real character is way down inside, and only shows up after intimate acquaintance. That's why clothes must be bought on faith, and from a good house. That's why it's handy to have a good label like that of Stein-Bloch, with "63 years of knowing how" in back of it.

And while we're on the subject, we want to remind you that it's a Filene habit, when tailors bring samples in to us to say, "What can you do if we pay you a little more for that suit?" Instead of the usual question, "What can you do for a little less?" We're always putting in, never taking out!

That's why Filene clothes are such good value for your money—$20 to $45.

COAST LINER SUNK BY WARSHIP

that the life-saving apparatus was defective. The cause of one of the lifeboats capsizing and spilling the occupants into the chill water is said to have been a rope breaking.

There were 135 persons aboard the City of Athens. Sixty-nine were passengers. The crew numbered sixty-six. Among the passengers were twenty-four marine recruits and twenty French sailors en route to southern naval training camps. Twelve of the marines have been accounted for and seventeen French sailors are known to have been drowned.

MANY DEEDS OF HEROISM.

The collision occurred while both ships were proceeding at a fair rate of speed. A fog which was so thick that not a glimpse of either ship's lights could be seen by the other was responsible for the crash.

Numerous cases of heroism were reported here today after the survivors had been landed. F. J. Doherty and Z. W. Volmer, wireless operators, stuck to their posts until the vessel went down. They refused to obey commands to leave the ship. Volmer was picked up, but Doherty was lost.

The marines, though newly enlisted recruits, upheld the traditions of that service. Practically all of them assisted in the rescue of passengers. Several gave their lives in an effort to save others.

It was announced here today that of the passengers it had been definitely established that the following were saved:

Kemp, Tifton, Ga.; Miss Etta Levy, New York city; Miss Etta Levy, Bridgeport, Conn.; Alden McHaskie, New York city; J. R. O'Brien, Savannah.

In addition to the thirteen passengers known to have been saved, seventeen marines, six French sailors and thirty-two members of the crew were saved.

TAKE SIXTY-EIGHT FOR SEA.

Immediately after the crash the cruiser launched lifeboats. Its searchlights were turned upon the waters in which men and women were struggling. Sixty-eight persons were picked up and brought to port.

The City of Athens was commanded by J. Forward, one of the oldest in the service of the company.

What happened immediately following the crash, which may have been due to the heavy mist, is described by the marine, Rogoff, who related his version of the wreck as follows:

"I was in the upper bunk, and Samuel Ginsberg, my companion for a day, occupied the lower section. We were not asleep, having been lying in bed for about an hour talking about the future, which is now ended for him, when the collision came. Ginsberg was thrown out on the floor, and we heard a woman scream. He said that some woman must have been hurt and began to dress. I crawled out, and slipping on my trousers, stepped out.

"The water was then rushing along the corridor. All at once the boat gave a lurch and a woman who had come out of a room a few doors up was thrown against me. We were at the entrance of the saloon and dragging her with me, I crawled along until I got hold of the piano leg, but it began to move also.

"Finally, working my way out to the deck with the woman still in tow, I saw some of the crew trying to lower a lifeboat. I helped the woman and a little girl into the small boat and then climbed up over the irons to the lower edge of the second deck, where I could get hold of the ropes which were tangled up. I think in all we got twelve people in the lifeboat, but when we tried to lower it the ropes gave way and they were all thrown out into the water.

MISS FLORA HOLTHAM

of Hyde Park, who is believed to have been lost with the S. S. City of Athens.

Miss Holtham was going to Florida for her health. Her father dropped dead on a Portland liner, and the young woman had a premonition of death.

Miss Flora Holtham, of No. 1423 River street, Hyde Park, believed to have been lost on the City of Athens, was private secretary to one of the officials of the Sturtevant Blower Company.

"A strange fate appears to follow members of the family who venture on the water," said William E. Holtham of Hyde Park.

"My cousin, who had not been feeling well, left Boston on Monday to go to Florida. It was not the Florida season, but she expressed the belief that a sea voyage and a few weeks in the land of sunshine and flowers would help her to regain her strength.

"Just before she sailed, however, she reminded her friends of the fact that her father dropped dead a few years ago on one of the Portland boats. 'I wonder if I ought to go,' she said. 'Her friends told her she must not be superstitious.'"

Miss Holtman was a graduate of the Hyde Park High School and had resided in the district from childhood.

French Cruiser Reports Picking Up Survivors of City of Athens Disaster

Washington, May 2.—A brief official report on the sinking of the City of Athens by a French cruiser off the Virginia Capes was received by the naval attache of the French embassy here. The report gave no information other than the bare announcement that the City of Athens had been lost, and that all survivors had been picked up by the cruiser and brought to an American port. The name of the French warship was withheld. The Navy Department is without information of the accident.

The weather reports at the Navy Department indicate that the accident may have been due to rough water and mist.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why help the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.—Advertisement.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Ladies! Try this! Darkens beautifully and nobody can tell—Brings back its gloss and youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of mess.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

Don't Let Soap Spoil Your Hair

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

The Helmet and the Cross

I saw him off that afternoon, his heart was filled with pride,
Swinging down the boulevard, his comrades by his side,
I hid the tears as I heard the cheers,
And, yes, I caught his eye,
He smiled for me, I still can see
My boy go marching by.

A new-made mound "somewhere in France," a helmet and a cross,
A starry flag, reminders of a mother's bitter loss,
He was all I had, my soldier lad,
My prayers will never cease,
May God above give him His love,
And grant his soul sweet peace.

PICK TWO HYDE PARK MEN FOR COMMISSIONS

Among the several hundred young men who have been recommended for commissions at Camp Devens are two from Hyde Park, who were among the first batch sent from Division No. 24, Boston. James B. Scully, acting sergeant, who has been recommended for the gold bars, lives at No. 1374 River street, and Sergeant John A. Downing is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Downing of No. 816 River street, Hyde Park.

Scully was active in athletics while attending Hyde Park High, serving as captain of the football team during his senior year, played baseball, was on the hockey team and was a member of the track team. He was captain of Tuft's varsity football team and at the time he was selected for military service he was a student at Technology.

Downing is a graduate of St. Raphael's Parochial School and attended Boston College High.

These City Physicians Explain Why They Prescribe Nuxated Iron

To Make Healthier Women and Stronger, Sturdier Men

NOW BEING USED BY OVER THREE MILLION PEOPLE ANNUALLY

By enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells, it often quickly transforms the flabby flesh, tasteless tissues, and pallid cheeks of weak, anaemic men and women into a glow of health. Increases the strength of delicate, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

IT is conservatively estimated that over three million people annually in this country alone are taking Nuxated Iron, the astonishing results have been reported from its use both by doctors and laymen, that a number of physicians in various parts of the country have been asked to explain why they prescribe it so extensively and why it apparently produces so much better results than were obtained from the old forms of inorganic iron.

Extracts from some of the letters received are given below.

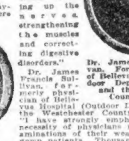
Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author, says: "There is no denying the fact that a more vigorous iron men without iron. Pallor means anaemia.

"In a semi means iron deficiency. The skin of anaemic men and women is pale, the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fag and the memory fails and they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks.

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated corn-meal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the wastepipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, is responsible for another grave iron loss.

"Therefore you should supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt."

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author.



Dr. James Francis Sullivan, Formerly of Bellevue Hospital (Out-door Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

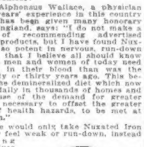
Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago and former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago.

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York.

Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago and former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, in commenting on Nuxated Iron, says: "It has been my particular duty during the past six years to assist in keeping Chicago's five thousand policemen in good health and perfect fighting trim so that they would be physically equipped to withstand all manner of storms and the ravages of nature's elements.

"Recently I was prompted through an article, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in our duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

Dr. T. Alphonsus Wallace, a physician of many years' experience in this country and who has been given many honorary titles in England, says: "I do not make a practice of recommending advertised medicinal products, but I have found Nuxated Iron so potent in nervous, run-down conditions, that I believe all should know of it. The men and women of today need more iron in their blood than was the case twenty or thirty years ago. This because of the denaturized diet which now is served daily in thousands of homes and also because of the demand for greater resistance necessary to offset the greater number of health hazards to be met at every turn."



Dr. T. Alphonsus Wallace, a Physician of Many Years Experience in this Country.

If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of doctoring themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, there are probably thousands who might readily build up their red blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are always continually around us. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form. And others after they had in some cases been going down hill for months without getting benefit from anything. Many an athlete and active fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood; while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for lack of iron.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older forms of iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make one constipated or upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser, or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

DEMOCRACY — BOSTON, THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1918. — LIBERTY

BOSTON'S OWN TO HAVE FIRST REVIEW

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, May 2.—"Boston's Own" is to have its first regimental review on the main parade field on Saturday. The regiment will be inspected by its commander, Colonel Frank Tompkins, and with its supply wagons and other equipment is expected to form a line two miles long.

The Boston regiment is the last of the infantry regiments of the Seventy-sixth Division to start weekly reviews. It is also behind the other regiments in open field work, although it was said today that Colonel Tompkins was waiting for more favorable weather before sending his men out to camp over night. The regiment was scheduled to go out in shirley to engage in a field manoeuvre problem, and several sham battles were scheduled to be fought by the other infantry regiments.

The field signal platoon of the headquarters company of the 302d Infantry was due to leave today to engage in signal work at Hollis, N. H. The platoon is commanded by Lieutenant John H. Madden and the outfit was expected to remain away until Saturday. The men carried their complete field equipment with them including their tents and cooking ranges and their telephone, telegraph and wireless outfits.

Two new regimental sergeant-majors and two battalion sergeant-majors have been appointed in the 302d Infantry. The new regimental sergeant-majors are George D. Sylvia of New Bedford and Nathan Yamans, a former Fall River attorney. Yamans is the new regimental personnel clerk. John Ringman of Boston and Charles H. Dominique of Fall River are the new battalion sergeant-majors.

Pushball contests have been started among the new men in the Depot Brigade and these contests have inaugurated a company spirit that has surprised the officers. The first contest was staged between the men of the 14th and 15th companies. The 14th is composed of boys from Fitchburg and Brookline and those in the 15th are from Maine. The Bay State men won the match after one of the warmest tussles yet seen in the cantonment.

A general inspection of the overseas equipment of all the officers in the 151st Infantry Brigade has been ordered.

Warned to Be Ready

Rear-Admiral S. S. Wood has sent orders to all the officers of the Naval Reserve to be ready to take up active duty elsewhere within a short time.

EDITORIAL

This is a message to the fathers and mothers of the New England boys in training at Camp Devens. Your sons have volunteered or have been drafted to do their bit for their country, along with thousands of others. They are going forth to fight that democracy may live, but they are also going to receive all the protection this government, with its great resources, can give them.

Most of the high officers at Devens are old army men and they have the interests of the men at heart. Your boys will be well fed, well clothed and well cared for. Their commanding officers will see that they want for nothing that is essential for their welfare, and the best is none too good for them.

They will suffer some hardships, but the kind of hardships that real men do not flinch from. All will be treated alike and those who have passed through the great conflict are bound to return better men.

PIER SHIP GOAT IS SENT TO RANGE

By PAUL F. WHELTON.

Aboard the Receiving Ship at Boston, May 2.—Bill Another member of the "old guard" has pulled out of the Receiving Ship fo'c'stle and now but a faint lingering memory of him remains to greet the olfactory organ of the bluejacket or visitor aboard ship.

Pablo (or Paul—no relation), the ship's goat and mascot has been detailed from the Receiving Ship to the naval range at Camp Plunkett, Wakefield, where he will furnish excellent company for Ralph A. Dunning, who is in charge of the Y. M. C. A. activities at Wakefield. Tent Secretary Dunning—there is being no fun no but at the camp—a short time ago wrote to his erstwhile fellow association workers in the Y. M. C. A. branch aboard the Receiving Ship and said he missed his old pals. When the roll of those eligible to visit Wakefield and cheer him up was called it was found that but one member was at liberty to attach and detach himself from the ship without summing up the works, and that member was Pablo.

The aid of Lieutenant F. G. Carlton, executive officer, was enlisted by Secretary George F. Sturtevant, and the goat's service papers were made out to date. His "pay accounts" were transferred from the receiving ship at Boston to the Wakefield camp and then he was headed in a northwesterly direction.

Pablo is now a recognized member of the Camp Plunkett crew and his quarters aboard the pier ship are being utilized as a reception room for magazines and periodicals which have been sent to the sailors by solicitous friends and well-wishers.

TWO NEWTON BOYS IN LINE AS OFFICERS

Alfred P. Mulvihill, who will receive a commission as second lieutenant, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Mulvihill of No. 77 Harding street, West Newton. He is a lawyer, having been admitted to the bar a year ago. George J. Kyte, also recommended for a commission, is the son of Sergeant T. Kyte of the Newton Police Department. He is twenty-four years of age and a graduate of the Newton High School.

FITCHBURG SOLDIER TAKEN AS DESERTER

Fitchburg, May 2.—James F. Hill, twenty-five, was arrested here by Inspector Thomas J. Oodley at the request of Camp Devens officials, charged with being a deserter. It developed that he left camp without leave to visit his wife and relatives.

Hid Chicken in Shirt for Mascot, But He Won't Need It

When asked to explain why he had the chicken there, he replied he wanted it as a mascot when he got into war service.

He was rejected.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advertisement.

Franklin Park Links Being Plowed for War Gardens

By MARIE DUNBAR.

Potatoes will be grown on the golf links in Franklin Park this season.

"Liberty Queen," the 5,566-pound automobile tractor recently purchased by the city, is now plowing the links. By the middle of the month the Public Safety Committee, which is handling the war gardens, hopes to have the ground in condition for planting.

Here are just a couple of the things that can be done with the tractor, according to Farm Manager Samuel Youngman:

"How ten acres a day. This same work would require ten men and ten teams.

"Harrow twenty acres a day. This labor would require twenty men and twenty teams.

"We expect to cultivate every available spot of ground in the park," said Mr. Youngman. "This will, no doubt, total about 140 acres. Two-thirds of the land will be planted in potatoes, and the other third in any vegetables preferred by the thrift farmers.

"The tractor will enable the city to save a large amount of labor and money. It may be surprising to some people to know that the harrow, which is pulled by the tractor, weighs 1,132 pounds."

It is planned to start the conservation gardens off with a gala day, "Planting Day." At this time the first seed will be sown by Mayor Peters.

FINED FOR CARRYING LOADED REVOLVER

Walter J. West, seventeen, of Dorchester, was fined $50 in the Newton court today on a charge of carrying a loaded revolver. Sentence was suspended. T. R. IN TOWN AND PRIMED FOR SPEECH

Colonel May Have Something to Say of Boston and the Loan at Tonight's Meeting

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt arrived in Boston today, primed with enthusiasm for his speech at Mechanics Hall tonight. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Pilgrim Publicity Association.

The colonel told an AMERICAN reporter he was very sorry to hear that Boston was behind on the Liberty Loan and declared he would have something further to say on these lines in his speech tonight.

The former President was met at the Back Bay station by Dr. W. Sturgis Bigelow of Beacon street, with whom he will remain until his departure for Oyster Bay tomorrow. The Colonel visited his new grandson, Archibald Bulloch Roosevelt, Jr., who with his mother is staying at the home of her parents on Bay State road during his father's absence in France.

At dinner tonight Colonel Roosevelt will be the guest of Mayor Peters, who will escort him to Mechanics Hall. He will speak on "Americanism and Patriotism."

Youthful 'Portia' Is Leader of State Women Lawyers

Miss Jennie A. Loitman of Boston was today elected president of the Massachusetts Association of Women Lawyers. Others elected were: Miss Alfretta F. McClure, first vice-president; Miss Edith Batchelder, second vice-president; Miss Harriett Weller, secretary; Miss Sarah Coyle, treasurer; Miss Margaret Maher, first director; Miss Rosamond Levy, second director.

Miss Loitman took an active part as a speaker for woman suffrage in the victorious campaign in New York, in the Maine campaign and in the Massachusetts campaign. She has also helped the Liberty Loan drive, both as speaker and as secretary of the Liberty Loan Jewish Women's Committee.

In 1913, although holding two college degrees, she was unable to take the bar examinations because she was not twenty-one years old, and in 1914, at the age of twenty-two, she was the youngest woman in the State to hold the degrees of A. B., LL. B. and LL. M. Since then she has been in active court practice.

BODY BUILDING TONIC HOLDS VAST STORE OF FOOD VALUE

Scientists Prove Father John's Medicine Is Five Times More Nourishing Than Many Common Foods We Eat.

That Father John's Medicine contains a vast store of food value and strength-building, energy-producing elements is established by recent scientific tests. This rich nourishment is in a form which is more easily taken up by the system than the common foods we eat and has many times greater food value.

When a scientist states the food value of any product, he does so in terms of "calories" which he defines as the amount of heat used to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree. A teaspoonful of Father John's Medicine contains 25,715.76 calories. The same quantity of steak contains only 10,714 calories. By these tests also it was proven that Father John's Medicine is five times more nourishing than an equal quantity of cod fish, seven and one-half times more nourishing than an equal quantity of oysters and almost six times more nourishing than pure milk.

Because it supplies this nourishment which you do not obtain from your food and supplies it in the form which the system most easily takes up and turns into tissue, muscle, flesh and strength, Father John's Medicine has had more than sixty years of success as a food tonic for those who are weak and run down.

It is guaranteed that Father John's Medicine positively does not contain any alcohol or any dangerous, habit-forming drugs or opiates. It is a pure and wholesome, nourishing tonic food,—a doctor's prescription, not a patent medicine. Begin taking it today.

SENATORS AND SOX IN FINAL

Barrow's Boys Anxious to Clean Up Last of Series Before Eastern Trip

By NICK FLATLEY.

One more tilt with those Senators today and the Red Sox leave again for a few games in the allen stretches of the Eastern sector of their league. They take on the Yankees in Gotham, go to Washington for a few games and then land back here to meet the first Western invasion.

Thus far the Barrow outfit has the big bulge over the Eastern teams, and the real sizeup on the race will not be possible until the Westerners come to our midst and try a few of those conclusions.

While the Sox record was battered a bit yesterday nobody is worried a great deal because when Johnson is pitching he's just as hard to lick as the French fighting spirit. It can't be done.

The Mays victory streak has been wrecked, also, but that doesn't do much harm either, as consecutive victories—too many of them—oftimes have fatal after results.

SENATORS A STAR TEAM.

One thing has been impressed on the Hub fans, however, and that is that the Senatorial team is quite an outfit, when it's on its game.

The addition of Lavan and Shotton has aged Griff a very dependable machine, and he's sure to be somewhere in the fight all along the line.

That, though, is no reason to believe that the locals will not gather in the last one this p. m., as the same things holds good for them, only more so.

Harry Hooper was the only one who could do a thing with Walter Johnson in yesterday's game, which the Senators won, 5 to 3.

The faster they are the better Harry likes them, anyhow. On his first three strolls to the saucer he whiffed out safe hits. Last time up he caught one on the nose, but it whizzed right at Clyde Milan.

GIFT HIT FOR STUFFY.

Apart from Harry, however, there was nothing doing in the hit line. Stuffy McInnis was granted one in the ninth on a roller that might have been called a Judge error, and that comprised the Sox offensive.

Blonde Carl Mays, it might be said, also did some pitching. Had his hectic fourth been cut out of the picture, the strands would undoubtedly have waged on until even the hour later twilight had fallen.

But he slipped in the fourth, and the game slipped with him. Carl had Shanks out of the way, when he "beaned" Judge. It wasn't meant, of course, but it was extremely, not to mention exceedingly, fatal. Morgan followed with a one-shot to centre, and Foster filed out.

Ainsmith caught one and gave it a ride to far right for three bases and two counters. The first of the Potomac not to be outdone by a mere catcher, blooded one toward centre and scrambled around to third also before the ball came back. That knocked off another score.

LAVAN CLINCHES IT.

Shotton walked, swiped second and trotted over the plate back of the big pitcher when Lavan cut in with a clean monosack. Milan meekly ended it.

The one Sox chance came in the ninth, with two gone. Schang strolled, McInnis made that hit and Hobby was passed, crowding the corners. This put it up to Scott, but he slashed into a forceout.

We can't win 'em all, especially when big Walter is right. He's out of the way now.

SOLDIER SMITH IN NEW ROLE AS FIGHTER

By J. P. MURPHY.

Lieutenant Jerome Jeffords, U. S. Army, breezed into the Hub this morning and immediately set out to find Alphonsus Lippe of these and other parts.

Lieutenant Jeffords, it might be mentioned, is none other than Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J., matic personage and claimant of the middleweight championship. And Mr. Lippe, as you've probably guessed, is his manager.

Lieutenant Jeffords or rather Jeff Smith, has a pressing engagement at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night, at which time he is to meet George Robinson of Cambridge in the feature twelve-round go—before the members of the West End Club, which, o course, accounts for Jeff's presence here.

In spite of his numerous duties at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J., where he is acting as physical instructor, Smith declared today that he is about to start an intensive campaign with the ultimate purpose of convincing the world at large he is the rightful middleweight champion.

Smith bases his title claim on the fact that he holds decisions over Eddie McGoorty, Jimmy Clabby and the late Les Darcy, and intends to push it to the limit, even if he has to go through the whole routine over again.

The Commercial A. C. preliminary card bears up exceptionally well and should be productive of plenty of fighting.

Interest is centred particularly in Young Alger, so-called Greek champion, who is reported to be a bearcat. Alger is billed to traverse the six-round route with Young Kloss of Commonwealth Pier.

The semi-final, at ten rounds, will be furnished by Ray Gibbs of Woonsocket and Henri Le Bouef of New Bedford. These two put up a rattling scrap just a week ago. Mike Castis of Lawrence will meet Charlie Mitchell of Braintree in the curtain raiser.

Ray Cass, manager of Frankie (Young) Britt, announced today that he never again would let his boy box outside of his class.

"They've got to make 133 pounds ringside," said Cass, "or Britt won't box. That's all there is to it.

"I'm through matching Frankie against welterweights. Britt is nominally a 128-pound boy and can whip anybody in the country at this figure, with the possible exception of Tendler."

Cass expressed entire ignorance of the "affair" at the Arena Tuesday night. He claims he did not know Shaver O'Brien was to box Britt until 9:30. He further states that Britt wanted to box Welling despite the fact the latter was overweight, but that he (Cass) would not let Frankie go on.

HARVARD AND TECH TO MINGLE IN TRACK MEET

The varsity and freshman track teams of Harvard and Technology will meet next Wednesday afternoon in the Stadium. Both Harvard teams are sadly depleted by men leaving college. HARVARD-NAVY GAME TO BE FREE TO PUBLIC

Admission to the Harvard-Navy Yard baseball game on Soldiers Field Saturday afternoon will be free. Babbit Maranville has rejoined his old comrades and will be at short against the Crimson. Harvard hopes to have its full strength in action.

Corbett's Corner

By JAMES J. CORBETT.

The $50,000 offer for a match between Earl Caddock and either Strangler Lewis or Joe Stecher is striking evidence that the wrestling game has come back with a loud hurrah!

The purse of this proportion is the biggest ever offered for a catch-as-catch-can contest in the United States. And Jack Curley and Louis Ayer, who are making it, certainly wouldn't do so if they weren't reasonably certain of breaking ahead of expenses, which, with the purse included, might approximate around $80,000.

A year or two ago when wrestling was at its lowest ebb, no promoter would have gone so far as to offer even $10,000 for a titular match. At that time there was not much of a popular demand for wrestling.

LOOK FOR NEW TITLE HOLDER.

The death of boxing in New York State and in other localities and the clean and successful revival of wrestling, has brought the mat game back to the prominence it enjoyed in the other days.

The outstanding wrestlers of today are: Earl Caddock, now in the United States Army; Joe Stecher, inventor of the famous scissors hold; Ed (Strangler) Lewis, creator of the deadly headlock and Wladek Zbyszko, the Pole, who specializes in the toe hold.

Also there is Marin Plestina, a Westerner, who demands recognition and a bout with one or another of the four men.

"Caddock is regarded as the champion just now but there are legions of wrestling enthusiasts who feel that Stecher, Lewis and Zbyszko have a slight edge on him," declared Curley.

"Lewis and Caddock never have met, but Caddock defeated the other two. However, his victories were not clean-cut enough to convince the supporters of Stecher and Zybyszko that he is their real peer.

STECHER CLAIMED TITTLE.

"Stecher became looked upon as the champion after Gotch retired, and successfully defended his claim until he took on Caddock. Each man gained a fall in that match.

"Stecher failed to return to the arena in time for the third fall and the referee awarded the match, by default, to Caddock.

"Stecher later claimed that his failure to return was not because he didn't want to continue, but because he hadn't been notified that the fifteen minutes' intermission was over.

"Caddock and Zbyszko met a few months ago in the West. Each man gained a fall and then, after more than an hour of wrestling, the referee stopped the contest and awarded the match to Caddock on points.

"It can be seen from this that although Caddock did gain victories over both his great rivals, in neither case was it a decisive one. And so the feeling has come about that one or another of his three rivals could defeat him in a finish clash."

SIXTH PLACE IS NOW TARGET OF BRAVES

Tom Hughes Elected to Shake Off Dodgers and Draws Grimes as Foe

By THOMAS S. RICE.

Brooklyn, May 2.—With a chance to shake off the Dodgers and jump into a sixth-place tie with the Cardinals, George Stallings' Braves promised to make today's matinee one big source of worry to Burleigh Grimes, the young man elected to do the hurling for the Flatbush squad.

Grimes, it might be mentioned, has lost fifteen straight games. The jinx has been chasing him since early last season when he was a member of the Pirates, and apparently it has no desire to shake him. Even the change of scenery has not helped him any. And it is hardly likely that the Braves will, either.

Slim Tom Hughes was the gentleman assigned to pitching duty by Manager Stallings. It is to be hoped that Thomas emulates one Don Patrick Ragan.

Don had a record of four won and one lost against his old playmates when he came to this time with the Braves, and now it is five won and one lost.

What is puzzling Brooklyn fans is why the rumor went abroad last Winter that D. C. F. Ragan had been waived to the minors.

Pat looked the goods to Brooklyn at all stages last year, and he was never better than when he beat the Dodgers yesterday by a 4 to 2 count and gave the Braves at least temporary possession of seventh place, with the residents back in their humble-like cellar surroundings.

Ragan had speed and a great curve, and if Joe Kelly had not dropped a fly in the ninth which a blind man could have caught, Don would have registered a shutout against his whilom associates on the Ebbets payroll.

Red Smith had his revenge when he whacked Rube Marquard for two singles and a double, drove in one run and made another tally possible. He had only two chances in the field, but handled them perfectly. Red seems to have recovered entirely from the fit of whatever ailed him in that crazy exhibition he gave Tuesday.

Big Moguls May Send Along Two Teams Composed of Major League Players

Cincinnati, O., May 2.—Christie Mathewson will go to France if the officials of the Y. M. C. A. can "show him" that his services are indispensable in building up the morale among the American troops.

This declaration was made by Mathewson after a conference with Dr. George Fisher of New York, International director of the physical instructors of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Fisher assured Big Six he could convince him that his services "over there" would be invaluable. He said that he would cable the Y. M. C. A. officials in France for further details of the scope of the work planned for Mattie.

President August Herrmann of the Reds will confer in Chicago with Presidents Weeghman and Comiskey in regard to the plan of sending two teams, composed of major league players, to France.

This Day in Our History

THIS is the anniversary of the death of Stonewall Jackson, shot down in 1863 by mistake by his own troops. The noted Confederate leader was returning to his lines after a reconnoitring trip and was wounded in the hand and arm. Pneumonia set in, killing him.

Take a Look at Mars

One Wife in a Million

A STUDY IN MAGNANIMITY

Beatrice Fairfax Writes on the Woman Who Sheltered Her Husband's Affinity

By Beatrice Fairfax

NOT often does a woman score so splendidly as did the wife of the professor who is reported to have taken under her roof the misguided young woman who had registered with him at a New York hotel.

This gracious act of magnanimity on the part of the "wronged wife" will go a long way toward disproving the tooth-and-claw methods ascribed to women in their dealings with each other.

Since the exposure the repentant young woman has "wept continuously." Doubtless she feels that fate—the world, circumstances, call it what you will—has treated her very cruelly. Very probably she does not blame herself; women of this type seldom face facts. It is always the outside influence that is wrong with them, never the inside weakness.

The culprit seems neither better nor worse than the usual undeveloped woman that finds herself in this kind of plight. She is reported as saying: "When my husband returns from France I will dwell with him and him alone."

But what of the husband—will he acquiesce in this arrangement? He may feel that a woman who could travel from Texas to New York to see him sail for the battlefields of France, and immediately accept consolation from a man of fifty-five, whom she describes as a "dear old bald-headed daddy," may not represent his ideal as wife and mother.

What Will the Husband Say?

Very naturally he may prefer to dwell alone than risk his happiness in such precarious domesticity. There is, also, the boy of three to be considered. In all probability the soldier father may have some ideas about his upbringing; he may not feel that the child's best development can be assured under the care of this kind of mother.

In the meantime the wife weeps and has her meals brought to her bedside by the splendid wife of the philandering professor, who is big enough to condone the folly of both youth and age and play the ministering angel, too.

The man's part in the triangle seems to be that of a warning, a warning against the folly of certain forms of literary exercise. He is one more pitiful illustration of a man trying to set the world on fire by a hatful of poor epigrams.

If the pun is the lowest form of wit certainly the epigram is the most dangerous form of indoor sport for the elderly. Within the last few years the daily papers have recorded the undoing of scores of professional men who began by inverting law and order in their diction, and later broke the law—and suffered its penalties—in an effort to live up to their speech.

There was the case of the brilliant Irishman whose decadent epigrams may be said to have founded the "smart" school of literature. From being the most-petted man in London he became a byword and managed to live long enough to serve his sentence and die outside of jail. There was the witty and delightful professor—a member of the faculty of Columbia College, New York—who fell by the wayside after he began writing antithetical sentences at the expense of the homely virtues.

And there are dozens and dozens of playwrights who fairly run epigram foundries over hours in their efforts to be witty at the expense of convention. Curiously enough, they are more often in than out of the divorce court, and marriage is invariably the bullseye around which play their prettiest and crispest witticisms.

Not a Master at Epigram

The efforts of the erring professor in this case are distinctly poor alongside of the achievements of some of the master word jugglers. He says: "The morality of women is an expediency rather than an innate virtue."

He also says: "Women are better off for having had their fling as men do. Dissipated women often make excellent wives."

I wonder what the poor, foolish little lieutenant's wife, devotedly attended by the woman she wronged, would say to this counterfeit of speech today. With the world against her, her husband in France still to be heard from, I venture to say she is under no illusions.

The epigram that in all probability is claiming her attention today is: "For as you sow, ye are like to reap." Or the line from the Old Testament: "They have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind."

Charity Was There

Another of the professor's efforts is: "Chivalry is the persistence of the old race habit of contempt for woman." Certainly no chivalry greeted his victim, as she stood friendless in the police court, and the hotel declined to have her back. But I cannot see that this kind of chivalry shows any absence of contempt. However, if chivalry was absent, charity was not; it was there in the person of the professor's wife—fine, splendid, magnanimous.

I wonder what she thinks of her husband's epigrams—they have not hurt her, certainly. She probably regards them as other wives do their husbands' after-business crass for gardening, carpentry, or detective stories.

What does she think of this effort of her husband's in particular? "Matrimony is often an arrangement by which the woman trades her irreproachable conduct for irreproachable gowns." And what is she trading for her irreproachable conduct on this occasion?

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

Could You Be Happy?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am nineteen and motherless. I live with strangers and have to support a little sister. I met a young man seven years my senior and he asked me to marry him. My relatives know him and know his character. He earns a large salary and is able to support a wife. But he has one fault—he is very stingy. I don't love him, but my friends say I will learn to love him. Kindly advise what to do.

UNDECIDED.

HOW much happiness do you think you will have with a man you call stingy and for whom you feel no love? After all, you are marrying him—if marry him you do—for money; if he does not give it to you, what are you going to get out of your ugly bargain? I don't believe much in "learning to love." Learning to admire and respect and be fond of a man are all possible if he is kind and generous and his character is fine. On the other hand, love is not quite the romantic, feverish, sentimental thing of moonshine and kisses and heart throbs which girls imagine it. With affection, respect and congeniality, you might find happiness. But with nothing but money to give you joy, how can you possibly feel like anything but a creature who has sold herself? Think over your own feelings toward the man, and don't marry him because you are too lazy to go on earning an honest living. Marriage is a big job. It requires two partners working together amiably to make a go of it.

A Smooth, Hairless Skin for Every Woman

(The Modern Beauty)

With the aid of a plain delatone paste it is an easy matter to rid the skin of unsightly hairy growths. The paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted and after 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. When you go to your druggist for delatone, be sure you get the genuine article.—Advertisement.

Ethel Barrymore (Mrs. Russell Colt) with her three children. Sam is the eldest, Ethel II. next and John Drew is the baby

By Margery Rex

THERE used to be a very considerable element of the human race that thought it necessary for a woman to lose the heart and mind of a woman in order to win the wages of a man. Just why anybody should attach sex or gender to a dollar I confess I cannot see, but the old idea seemed to be that a woman couldn't make a living with a womanly mind; that she couldn't establish a career if she made the mistake of marrying and that the bringing up of a family was a bar to fame.

This idea has gone. Of course, it never did have any basis for existence, but since what people think might generally just as well be true, the old fogy notion lived on and on through the years without stopping to take stock of the actual facts. Some of the greatest women in the world, women who went out and accomplished big things, had, in their private lives the dearest and simplest loves. They had the hearts of school girls that had no possible connection with their mental ability to coin a living.

Such women, with force to command, and the longing to be commanded on the other side of the picture, lived in the days of the grandfather, who never dreamed of woman suffrage. But they were few. Now they are many. The war and the progress of women politically, will make them more and more common.

What more shining example can be found than Ethel Colt? Probably a lot of you will not recognize her by that name. That is why I used it. She is known to every one as Miss Ethel Barrymore, one of the greatest stage stars that the generation has produced. Well, Ethel Barrymore goes to the stage to work out her destiny. Ethel Colt comes home to caress the baby and play with the other two children, and one would not care to find a more domestic picture than she presents when she is in the world that pleases her most.

Where the one world is the world of her career, the other is the world of her heart.

It must be very restful for Miss Ethel Barrymore to go home and be Mrs. Russell Griswold Colt and play the domestic role of mother to her three interesting children—Samuel Pomeroy, named for his paternal grandfather, Ethel Barrymore and the baby, John Drew. There are three generations of distinguished stage ancestry behind these children. Mr. and Mrs. John Drew, of Philadelphia, well known to the playgoers of an earlier day, were their great-grandparents. Their maternal grandparents were Maurice Barrymore and Georgiana Drew Barrymore; John Drew is their great-uncle, and the popular John and Lionel Barrymore are among the children's uncles.

Miss Barrymore has ever contended that she went on the stage because she just had to, but her heart is with her babies and the role she prefers is that of mother.

(On Thursday watch for another famous woman—Alma Gluck—who has also proved that motherhood has added to her fame.)

Worthy and Worthless

WHY A WORKER REFUSED A REQUEST

Loretto Lynch Gives an Interesting Study of Frugality and Carelessness

By Loretto C. Lynch,

Instructor War Cookery, N. Y. Evening High School for Women.

"AND another thing about her," continued the village Household Task Deserter as she continued to polish over her manicured nails, "She's just as mean as she can be. Why, only yesterday she refused to give financial assistance to the Sullivans."

The woman "on the pan" was Mrs. Thrifty, age, twenty-nine; color, white; married, two children.

And who were the Sullivans? The Sullivan was the typical large family whose forebears for generations had been "long on love and short on discipline." The mother excused the father's wordless days with the smiling assertion, "All men have their faults. Sure if he was the kind that worked every day he might be the kind that would beat me."

Older Girls

The older girls, age sixteen and eighteen, worked—at least they put in their time between morning and evening in a department store, occasionally allowing themselves to be interrupted sufficiently long between the gushes of "and he said—and then the vampire comes on with a knife in her hand—and"—to answer an annoying customer.

Ninety per cent of the girl's meagre salary went for tawdry clothing. The rest was divided between cheap rouge, carfare and the blood and thunder motion picture houses.

The Sullivans had another mark of distinction. The neighbors' cats and dogs always found their garbage can full of every food known to delight the canine palate. And so the family had fun along until—well, last week the "head of the house" became ill. His disease was politely called "grippe," but some folks dared to think it was due to auto-intoxication—from overeating and too little exercise. Then, too, the floorwalker, a cruel man, dismissed the Sullivan girls for wasting their employer's time. On top of it all, food prices were mounting.

Sullivan got good pay as a laborer when he worked. There was no food stored up in cans on the pantry shelf, for during prosperous times Mrs. Sullivan couldn't be bothered canning. Such nonsense, when you can run out at any time and buy a can of most anything!

And while Mrs. Thrifty canned and planned and cheated—the garbage pail—the Sullivans had a real "good time." They took in the movies; they went on excursions during the Summer; they had the pick of the peddler's wagon, and no small quantities, either!

And the appeal "Eat more fish, eggs, beans and save the meat for your soldiers on the front," brought only a supercilious icy grin from their countenances!

A kind soul found out their plight, and called on all the neighbors to help them. And almost everybody put their seal of approval upon this family's wastefulness, shiftlessness and laziness by responding—all except Mrs. Thrifty, and she told the collector something like this:

"Give the Sullivans of my store of supplies? Not I. When they were having what they considered a good time, I was working—and working hard to do my bit by my family and my country. What good are they? Only those of value deserve to eat. Good-day."

Cruel? Stony-hearted? I'm not so sure that it is. Let them starve? Well, not exactly. They might be put into the embarrassing position of asking charity from the State.

We are getting so into the habit of giving that many are giving carelessly. No woman or man able to stand up has the right to go from door to door begging! It is indeed the day of conservation, and every alert, progressive community will make up its mind to teach those lazy, shiftless ones among it that their day is over, done and past.

Good as You

The Indians, in their primitive intelligence and driven by the pressure of necessity, drove off the idle, the useless and the slackers. Facing all kinds of danger to obtain food, they very wisely divided up only with those who were "doing their bit." And it seems to me high time that each community took a strong hand against people who are the cause of their own poverty.

The sentiment, "I'm as good as you are," has wrecked many homes. In its wake follows "The best and lots of it or nothing." And they feast one day and spend enough to shock even an inexperienced mess sergeant, but then they become socialistic and want the thrifty neighbor to divide!

HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES

By Brice Belden, M. D.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS, or hardening of the arteries, is a chronic affection of the walls of the blood vessels, characterized by degenerative changes and more or less fibrous hardening.

This hardening of the arteries is a natural accompaniment of old age. It constitutes disease when it appears before the time when it would be a naturalchange.

The conditions which cause its appearance before the natural time are as follows: Certain Bright's disease, alcoholism, excessive muscular work, overeating, lack of exercise, gout, excessive mental strain, chronic lead poisoning and diseases of the blood. It sometimes follows typhoid fever and rheumatism. These conditions give rise to long-continued high blood pressure, which finally wears out the walls of the vessels.

Normally the walls of the blood vessels are highly elastic, like strong rubber tubing. But in arteriosclerosis the vessels become thickened, crooked and rigid.

The treatment must be directed to the underlying condition. No alcohol should be used. Tobacco should be used in moderation or not at all. There must be no mental or physical over-exertion, but gentle exercise in the open air is permissible. The best diet consists of fruit, vegetables, cereals, milk, bread and butter. Little or no tea and coffee should be used. There are a few drugs which have beneficial effects, but these must be ordered and watched by a physician.

This Face Powder Stays On Better Than Any Other

Now you can use a pure face powder that wonderfully beautifies your complexion and is guaranteed not to injure the most delicate baby skin. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. It does not contain white lead or starchy rice powder (Poudre de Riz) to make it stick. White lead poisons the skin and rice powder turns into a gluey paste that encourages enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder pimples. The specialist who makes this improved powder uses a medicinal ingredient that doctors use to heal the skin. In fact, this new powder helps to prevent and reduce enlarged pores and pimples. It is also astringent, discouraging flabbiness, crows' feet and wrinkles. Because it is pure and because it stays on better than any other, Powder La-may (French Poudre L'Amie) is already sold everywhere. The large size is only fifty cents, and the trial size twenty-five cents. Remember, this powder is guaranteed. If you do not find La-may much better than any you have ever used, your money is authorized to return your money without question. Refuse substitutes. Your common sense will tell you that when you are offered a substitute it is sure to be a demonstrator trying to sell an inferior powder that pays a big commission. When you use this absolutely pure La-may and see how splendidly it beautifies your complexion, you will understand why so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in New York.

When the Baby Needs a Laxative---

No one knows better than the ever-watchful mother—the natural doctor of the family in all the small ills—that when the baby is out of sorts it is usually due to indigestion or constipation.

It is always well, in any of its illnesses; to look for this cause. The diet may have to be changed, but before good can result from it; the bowels must be moved.

The mother has the choice of many medicines—cathartics, purgatives, bitter-waters, pills, physics, etc. But the little body doesn't need such harsh remedies for they wrench the system and do only temporary good, so often followed by an unpleasant reaction.

A better plan is to employ a mild; gentle laxative of which only a little is required. There is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that thousands of mothers have used successfully for baby's constipation and its accompanying ills, such as belching, wind colic, restlessness, sleeplessness, etc.

The nursing mother will also find it ideal for herself, and it is especially important that she be free from constipation.

Syrup Pepsin is guaranteed to do as promised or the druggist will refund the money. Thousands of cautious families have it in the house, secure against the little ills.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN The Perfect Laxative

NO INCREASE

In spite of enormous increased laboratory costs for the War the manufacturers of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sacrificing their profits and absorbing the war taxes so that this family laxative may remain at the pre-war price of 50c and $1 a large bottle. Sold by druggists for 26 years.

FREE SAMPLES

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling family laxative in America. If you have never used it and would like to sample it before buying, send your address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 468 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. If you have babies in the family send for a copy of "The Care of the Baby."

PLAN SURPRISE AT BALL FUND BENEFIT

Plans are practically completed for a monster benefit which will put the Boston AMERICAN'S Camp Devens Fund over the top with a bang.

On May 11 the campaign to secure a grandstand and athletic field for the boys at Camp Devens will be wound up in a blaze of glory.

A surprise of the most entertaining sort is being prepared, and on the night in question will be revealed to Boston people, who are helping with their contributions to make the men of the 76th Division happy.

For obvious reasons details of this feature cannot be given at present, but they will be announced in the Sunday papers of May 5. This much may be said, however. Men, women and children who are lovers of dramatic affairs will be amazed and pleased when they read what the Boston AMERICAN is going to offer them at the Boston Arena on the night of May 11.

Besides the above mentioned feature there will be a pageant in which will appear 500 Boy Scouts and 300 Girl Scouts. With Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert, soloist, they will take part in a patriotic demonstration built around the "Star Spangled Banner."

Lieutenant Robert C. Deming, athletic officer at Camp Devens, who was appointed official custodian of the fund by Major-General Harry L. Hodges, announced that more than $3,000 has been subscribed. Individual subscriptions are still requested, however, and those who wish to contribute are asked to send their money or checks to Lieutenant Deming.

The AMERICAN has received a check for $73.62 from Ernest L. Metcalf, clerk to the Selectmen of Franklin, being the proceeds of a dance run April 16 by the firemen at the request of the Franklin Board of Selectmen. Mr. Metcalf stated that both the members of the Selectmen and fire department regret that the amount was not larger, and join with him in the wish that the fund may go away over the top. The check has been forwarded to Lieutenant Deming and will be acknowledged by him.

FARM HORSE IS GIVING WAY TO TRACTORS

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

A few years ago it was asserted that the time was not far distant when the horse would be rarely seen except as a pet or in rare cases of sport, and this contention seems to be borne out by statistics, but the war has developed uses for the horse which the auto has not yet been able to fulfill. The auto has already practically supplanted the horse on the roads, and the increasing use of farm tractors has about sounded the knell for the farm and dray horse.

Statistics show that 91,000,000 acres of farm lands are given up each year for raising oats and hay for horses, as against 60,000,000 acres for raising wheat. In times like these, when wheat is so much needed, this seems to show a balance too much in favor of the horse, and it is almost certain that if war needs did not demand horses and mules no such amount of land would be allowed to be used for raising feed for horses.

A statistician of the United States Tire Company estimates that nearly a million and a half truck tires are now in use on commercial vehicles in this country. Trucks have already supplanted more than a million horses, and it is safe to say that when the war is over the trucks will stay.

The motor truck easily demonstrated its superiority over the horse-drawn truck in the present national emergency, in which the automobile has been called on to help out the railroads.

While motor transportation has owed its very existence to the solid rubber tire, the truck has shown its best result in the present emergency when equipped with the United States Tire Company's big new "Nobby Cord" pneumatics, which make long trips at fast speed possible, without serious wear and tear on the car and with a great saving of gasoline.

Tire experts are of the opinion that the solid tire will play an important part in motor truck transportation for years to come, but the development in the pneumatic tire for this class of work make it appear that the air tire will steadily displace the solid tire, except for use on trucks of four tons and larger.

HISTORIC BRICKS FOR 25 BOND PURCHASERS

To the first twenty-five Liberty Bond purchasers on Friday and Saturday the Shepard stores will give a unique memento of the first fight for Liberty on American soil. This souvenir is a brick taken from the old Doggett House on Hollis street, where the Boston Tea Party assembled. It is expected there will be much friendly rivalry to be the first to purchase a bond and get one of these bricks. "Don't bother sending me goodies," a Boston soldier writes. "Buy Liberty Bonds. That will help us all and bring us back victors." It is to help make this young hero and other American heroes realize this wish that the Shepard stores are throwing all the energy of their organization into the work of selling bonds.

CONTRACTS FOR 200 MORE WOODEN SHIPS

Washington, May 2.—One million tons of wooden ships, authorized in one day, making an additional 200 ships to the emergency fleet, will be contracted for within the next few days, it was said at the Shipping Board today. This is the biggest expansion in the wood ship construction since the Emergency Fleet Corporation announced its original building plans for wooden vessels. Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board said today that engineers already were drawing plans and specifications.

BLAME HUNGARIANS FOR FAMINE IN AUSTRIA

Copenhagen, May 2.—The Austrian Liberal press is attacking Hungary for not providing Austria with food, according to information received here today. The Hungarian peasants are said to have food in plenty. The Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna was quoted as saying:

"Hungary is an enemy, although a sister country. The existing animosity is more serious than hostility and open fighting."

At a great mass meeting in Innsbruck, Austria, it was decided to ask help from Budapest, and if it is refused to appeal directly to Germany.

We Persist in Out-of-Date Election Methods

Ex-Governor Garvin of Rhode Island Writes an Interesting Letter on Choosing of Legislators

The following is an interesting letter from Ex-Governor Garvin of Rhode Island. Mr. Garvin is one of the most progressive men in New England, and one of our finest citizens. What he says is well worth reading and considering.

Public speakers, after setting forth in strong language some political or social wrong, are wont to close with the words, "It's your own fault." Such reformers mean that, if the voters would elect legislators qualified for their duties, the evils depicted would be abolished by law.

As a matter of fact it is extraordinarily difficult, almost impossible, for the voters of a State to elect a Legislature which will act wisely. Our machinery of elections is substantially the same as that of the eighteenth century. What if we were lighting our streets, as was done at that time in London, by the carrying of smoky lanterns? Would not footpads abound? Or, suppose it still took three weeks by sailing vessel to get any word from Europe, instead of three seconds, as now.

The situation is this: The invisible government which rules us in its own interest makes use of up-to-date inventions, while the visible governments which occupy our capitols are chosen by means of the same old and outgrown methods.

Our legislators generally are elected from single districts. That means, representatives need only to get the largest number of votes in a small constituency. A shrewd worker, approved by the invisible government, as a rule can manage to get the floating vote which is needed to carry the caucus of the dominant part, or the election in case of a real contest at the polls.

To say to the voters that, under these constitutional bonds, "It is your own fault," is not correct. One might as well say to a rabbit caught in a hidden trap, "It is your own fault." In this country the people are caught and held fast by the trap known as a Constitution—a trap which can be loosened only with the consent of officials subservient to the invisible government.

In the middle of the last century Sir Thomas Hare made an electoral invention which would put an end to invisible government. The machinery he devised is very simple.

Japan, after trying our single district folly for a decade, adopted proportional representation for the election of the popular branch of its Legislature. The eleven representative districts in Tokyo were abolished; its eleven representatives now are chosen upon a general ticket, each elector voting for one candidate only. The result is that the eleven largest groups in the city are represented by their first choice among all the candidates appearing upon the ballot. Needless to say, a legislative body, thus reflecting "like a mirror," as Mirabeau put it, the leading political opinions of a large constituency, is highly efficient and fully satisfactory. The small parties, as well as the members of the larger parties, are duly represented, thus opening the way for the consideration of new ideas in the halls of legislation.

A constitutional convention ought to adopt proportional representation for the election of legislative bodies, municipal as well as State.

LUCIUS F. C. GARVIN.

Danger in the Subway

The AMERICAN wants to warn those responsible for conditions in the Park street subway, and that responsibility lies mostly with the Elevated, but partly with the Transit Commission, that conditions there are dangerous to human life and limb.

Already these conditions have exacted life and limb, and nothing has been done to increase the protection, while the danger increases every day.

Probably no people of equal intelligence on earth having the theoretical political power enjoyed by the American people would tolerate the wretched conditions which exist in the Park street subway.

If the bill taking the Boston Elevated out of the hands of its private managers and turning it over to public trustees becomes a law one of the first things that ought to be done and probably will be done will be to correct conditions at Park street and the other congested points on this road.

WHEN MONEY COMES EASIER

You may now have your best opportunity to lay aside money for old age and the future.

Industrial activity on account of the necessities of war has raised your salary along with many others, perhaps, but don't let it turn your head.

Keep down extravagant tendencies.

To be sure, living has jumped up in cost, but you are not experiencing the difficulty of the past in meeting your obligations. Things are financially easier for you.

Your duty is plain, and it should be the greatest joy you have ever known, the realization that you have money to invest and can aid the government at the same time by buying Liberty Bonds or Savings Stamps.

Get into the great game. Curtail the unnecessary frills and put the money out at interest with the best government on earth.

It is not good policy to cut education and food and clothing to the point of penury; that is folly.

But your scheme of living should be systematized now so that you can save every penny possible by wasting nothing, and the extra should be earning interest for you while it works for Uncle Sam.

PSYCHOLOGY OF EARNING A LIVING ALONE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

WHILE on a brief visit to another city a friend of mine introduced me to a girl who had for a number of years been studying the art of gem-setting. She had pursued it, because of her love for it and because she possessed a special aptitude, but with no idea of using it commercially.

Then her father suffered a series of reverses in his business and lost almost everything he had. It was necessary for the girl to do her share in supporting herself and assisting the family, and naturally she fell back upon the craft to which she had given so much study.

A Real Gloom

Her work struck me as beautiful and unusual. An adorable pin of unique design and set with opals captured my fancy, and I expressed my admiration. Back in my mind was the determination to have it, if it broke me.

"It's nice of you to like it," the girl said. "I think the design is attractive. But it seems awfully presumptuous in me to be actually starting out to sell my work. When I see the exquisite things that are done by real artists, my attempts look painfully amateurish. I am very far from possessing the skill and finish I hope to attain."

Now, please bear in mind that she had something to sell. I was a chance customer, who admired her work and had every intention of buying some of it. But this was the psychological effect of her words. A faint chill came over me. I hesitated and looked at the pin again, this time more critically. It was a pretty thing, but it was not especially cheap—not cheap enough to wear once or twice, and then throw aside. And, like any other purchaser, I like to get my money's worth.

I ought to have said to her: "You have made a psychological blunder this morning, and if you continue to repeat it you will certainly land in the ditch of failure. That self-deprecatory attitude is fatal to success. It is far better to be bumptious than too humble.

"If you do not consider your work worthy you have no business to be trying to sell it. It would also be stupid of you to attempt to do so. For you can't fool all of the people all of the time. And you would sooner or later have to retire ignominiously from your particular field.

Think This Over

"When you saw that I admired that pin, you should have called my attention to the excellence of the stones. You should have pointed out the originality of the design, and have told me an interesting little story of how you got your idea for it, or from what famous piece it was copied. You should have enhanced its value in my eyes in every possible way, and have sent me away both pleased and proud that I had managed to secure it."

Nail the Flag to the Plow

By W. B. Lockwood

NAIL the flag to the plow—
The country needs grain,
While the sailor boys guard
The tracks of the main.
God gave you the fields
And the sun with its light;
Then double their yields
While the sailor boys fight.

Nail the flag to the plow—
The soldiers must eat
While defending the trenches
Or suffer defeat.
You can help the brave soldier
At this time of his need
By increasing your acres
And planting more seed.

Nail the flag to the plow—
Your children and wife
Must be saved from starvation
While the world is in strife.
Your duty is plain;
Your mission is grand;
Each man is a hero
Who's tilling the land.

You say you're too old
To fight with a gun;
Then work in the fields
Till the setting of sun
And show to the world
By the sweat on your brow
That you're serving your country
With a flag on your plow.

SUPERSTITION BATTLES ON AGAINST SCIENCE

By Garrett P. Serviss

THE astounding display of the aurora borealis on the night of March 7, for which no particular cause has been found, seems to have profoundly affected the imagination among many thousands of people, for the special reason, of course, that it came when the world was holding its breath in expectation of the beginning of the most tremendous battle yet known to history and was characterized by colors and forms in the sky not only imitative of the national standards of the allies, but also strongly suggestive, for minds inclined toward superstition, of battle and bloodshed.

So well-timed a celestial spectacle capable of being interpreted as a prognostic has seldom occurred, and it is likely to find its niche in mythical history alongside of the stories of the sky warriors, St. George and Joan of Arc, whom many French and English soldiers declared they saw leading them on through the battle clouds when the German rush upon Paris was stayed at the Marne.

Some of the descriptions of the wonderful display that I have gathered depict things which, in the days when Constantine believed that he saw in the sky the symbol of the victory of Christianity and changed the ancient Roman standard to accord with it, would have made an ineradicable impression upon mankind. Upon the testimony of men whose truthfulness and accuracy of observation are not to be doubted, the sky over the northern United States on the night of March 7 was luminous for hours, though intermittently, with vast white, pulsating streamers displayed against a background of red, which gave to many awe-struck onlookers the impression of an enormous American flag, waving gigantically as its mighty folds, seen as through a vaporous curtain, rolled up from all around the northern horizon to and beyond the zenith.

Impression General

Of course the imagination, being once awakened, tended to exaggerate the surprising spectacle. But the same impression seems to have been made everywhere. Unfortunately, I did not see the display, having to give a lecture that night, but on my return home, after it was over, I found members of my family yet excited about it and radiant with descriptions of the inspiring emblem of red, white and blue that had undulated so grandly in the heavens.

One of the peculiar incidents connected with this aurora was the reported seeing, both in eastern Canada and near Duluth, at the western end of Lake Superior, of the "thunder eagle" of the Ojibway Indians. These Indians, whose hunting grounds were gradually extended from Ontario to the region west of the Great Lakes, possessed an imaginative type of mind, and their legends are full of stories of the mysterious powers of the spirits inhabiting the air, the clouds, and indeed all natural objects.

Another View.

Their "thunder eagle" seems to have been associated in their minds with war and bloodshed, and its appearance on this occasion, "flying southward," through the vibrating streamers and bands and amid the flowing pools of blood-red light which flashed out now here and now there in the sky, was naturally interpreted as a portent prefiguring the awful slaughter about to occur on the stricken plains of Europe, where the warriors of the western world were now, for the first time, arrayed in battle.

These things have a more than passing interest because they show us how, in the midst of the most advanced and enlightened civilization that mankind has yet attained to, the old superstitious leaven remains almost as strong as ever in the obscure depths of the mind, and is still wonderfully powerful both for arousing hope and confidence and for implanting dismay and terror in the human soul. It would probably be found yet today, by a careful study of the guiding impulses of our fellow-creatures, that reason is less effective in determining their actions than is impulse based upon impressions in which the imagination plays a great if not the principal part.
